

Laboratory and Clinical Aspects of Heparin-Induced Thrombocytopenia (HIT) Diagnosis

Register to attend this free webinar at www.ilus.com/illuminations

Speaker: Andreas Greinacher, MD
Department Head and Professor
Institute of Immunology and Transfusion Medicine
Head of the Thrombosis and Haemostasis Service
Medical School and University Hospital
Ernst Moritz Arndt University
Greifswald, Germany

Date: Thursday, October 7, 2010

Time: 14:00 – 15:00 Central Europe Time

Credits: Contact your local IL sales representative to determine if continuing education credit is offered in your country.

Click here to register

As part of the new ILLuminations Webinar Series, Instrumentation Laboratory invites you to learn the essential components for successful implementation and management of a HIT testing program in your laboratory. Dr. Greinacher, a specialist in HIT, will present valuable insights into the clinical aspects and pathogenesis of HIT and propose a diagnostic model for optimizing therapeutic decisions. Click here to learn more.

Register by Monday, October 4, 2010, at www.ilus.com/illuminations. Registrants will receive an email confirmation with instructions on how to join the live webinar. For questions and registration assistance, contact your local IL sales representative.

This webinar is free to attend.

